Pleasantly warm throughout the day with cool nights, 2012 was picture perfect among grape growers. It allowed the vines to mature the Pinot Noir fruit nice and evenly. Our estate 2012 Russian River Valley Pinot Noir offers clean bright fruit with touches of Bing cherries, strawberries and raspberry. There's a nice sense of forest floor and earthiness to this wine, that's in beautiful harmony with the sweet baking spices and soft toast from the aging in carefully selected French oak barrels over a 10 months. We harvested the 777 clone, about a week before the 828 clone allowing its more refined natural spiciness and linear fruit to shine though, whereas the slightly more robust 828 brings more of a blockbuster fruit component to the fold.
